LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

Hello readers! Load up your calendar with some great events we've got in store for you in this issue! We've got anniversary celebrations, oodles of antique shows and events, festivals, estate sales, and spring store sales. Plan your spring and summer destinations around our events, and be sure to locate our advertisers in the towns along your planned route. Look around your home or business to see what you might want to add, and take measurements and a vehicle big enough to get your purchases home! Plan ahead for the much anticipated upcoming Hwy 68 400 Mile Sale (on our front cover), so you can plot your visits and overnight stays to charming small towns scattered across Kentucky.

I am currently staring out the window watching surfers and boaters, and looking for whales from our room in Waikiki Beach, Oahu, Hawaii. Our Florida travel friends have time shares on Kauai and Oahu, and had been trying to get us to visit Hawaii with them for years. We had enough Southwest points to cover the airfare, so we decided to join them last minute. We loved the peaceful and lush "Garden Isle" of Kauai, seeing free range chickens everywhere, green turtles and monk seals basking on the beach, and the scenery. Our friend took us to her favorite waterfalls, we sampled local rum and amazing chocolate at a cacao/chocolate farm, golfed, and hiked in the awesome Waimea Grand Canyon. On Oahu we stayed in the hotel metropolis of Waikiki, which is fun at night with fireworks, luaus, dancing, fire twirling performers and more. We drove around the island to explore, and my trip was complete when we got to see the humpback whales spout and play along the beach. I will add lots of pictures and info on my FB page "Busy Bee Traveler," and later on my travel blog when I get caught up on all our travels this year.

Until next month...

GARDENING BRINGS PEOPLE INTO NATURE

Planting flowers and herbs is so beneficial for our well being. The uplifting colors of flowers, the joy of seeing butterflies, to the relaxing fragrances, gardening can transform life into a more soothing and balanced place to come home too.

Flowering perennial plants bring color and nature's beauty to any garden. Fresh green herbs have culinary appeal, aromatic properties as well as health benefits.

Whether you use plants for relaxation, to enhance your favorite meals, or to bring in the hummingbirds, beautiful flowering perennials and the relaxing fragrances that only fresh herbs can provide are waiting for you at our 25th Annual Herb Festival in Bowling Green Kentucky April 24th thru May 4th.

Jackson, & Paris TN

WORLD'S BIGGEST FISH FRY HELD APRIL 20-27

The World's Biggest Fish Fry, taking place April 20-27, is a premier event for Paris - Henry County and West Tennessee. The last full week of April annually attracts people locally as well as nationally. Visitors come from across the country to enjoy the festivities.

The whole festival revolves around the "Fish Tent" where by last account over 12,500 pounds of catfish is served with all the trimmings. In addition to all you can eat catfish you will find parades, carnivals, rodeos, catfish races, dances, arts and crafts to name a few. Events actually begin early in February with beauty pageants leading up to the week long celebration.

Since 1961 and thanks to the Paris-Henry County Jaycees the festival has grown unbelievably from 1,600 pounds of catfish cooked to over 5 tons of catfish and a two hour grand parade.

For more information, please call Fish Fry Headquarters at (731) 644 - 1143 or visit www.paristnchamber.com/fish-fry-information/

SUE ARMSTRONG THOMPSON ESTATE SALE #2 SET FOR APRIL 5-7

Featuring a Lifelong Personal Antique Collection

Sue Armstrong Thompson's Estate Sale #2 has been set for April 5 - 7 at 114 Cleburne Street in Franklin featuring her lifelong antique collection. Sue was known as "the 'One Woman Road Show'" and held hundreds of antique appraisals and appraisal fairs throughout the South. The November Estate Sale attracted collectors from all over the southeast.

In making the announcement, Sue Thompson's son J.T. Thompson said, "We're excited to uncover even more of Sue's antique collection with others who appreciate decorative arts as well as fun finds. I've always called Sue an 'incurable collector' because I witnessed repeatedly her love for the hunt since I was barely walking in Texas as a child. I recently uncovered several hidden storage units throughout Williamson and Marshall Counties housing her abundant collection and now want to share those finds with other collectors."

The Estate Sale will feature antiques from the 1820's to 1950's as well as interesting one-of-a-kind items she discovered while exploring the world. Items for sale include textiles, porcelain silver, vintage collectibles along with contemporary furniture and accessories.

Thompson added, "We've discovered several notable artist pieces from LeRoy Neiman, Van Gogh, Dali and Red Grooms, who was a personal friend of Sue's. There's even a rough cardboard cutout of a bull that he signed 'To Sue from Red Grooms.' She would love knowing that her collection is appreciated by fellow antique enthusiasts."

In 1976, Sue Armstrong Thompson moved from her native state of Texas into Mooreland

Plantation in Brentwood, Tenn. While there, she was contacted by the Carter House Association to host hospitality dinner and tea parties to encourage docents for the historic site. In 1979, she and her family moved to Longview Mansion on Caldwell Lane in Nashville, a beautiful backdrop for her antique collection. For more than 50 years Thompson appraised antiques throughout the south and was often accompanied by her son J.T. Thompson who owns and manages the Lotz House Antiques & Museum Store. Lotz House guests loved visiting with Sue when she volunteered at the museum because she had many great stories to share.

The sale will be located at 114 Cleburne Street in Franklin and is managed by A Lucky Dog Estate Sales. Hours are Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. and Sunday from 12 - 3 p.m. For more information visit www.estatesales.net/TN/Franklin/37064 or call 615-945-6832 or email aluckydogestatesales@gmail.com.

FRESH WAYS TO USE BLUE AND WHITE IN YOUR HOME

by Terry Lea, Murfreesboro, Tennessee

Are you a true blue fan? Murfreesboro, Tennessee just happens to be home to Middle Tennessee State University, home of the Blue Raiders. Many alumni and boosters sport yard signs proclaiming they are "True Blue" fans. We have two MTSU grads in our family. I love MTSU like any other proud parent, but today let's talk about blue and white. Specifically the rich blues and white tones that we often associate with Chinoiserie and Asian-inspired decor.

Blue and white: It's a crisp, classic combo that has stood the test of time. With the Grand Millennial trend taking root, it's only logical that Asian-inspired motifs and colors will have a renewed surge in popularity.

So what IS Chinoiserie? It's from the french "Chinois" meaning after the Chinese taste, and it describes Asian design translated to Western tastes. It's nothing new - we've been gravitating to art and decor from China and Japan for centuries. I love how it mixes with both woods and metallics with equal ease...and how you can mix and match blue and white dishes to create impact and interest without limiting yourself to a single pattern. That's an added bonus when someone manages to drop or chip a piece!

Whatever you do, USE your pieces. And don't be afraid to use them in non-traditional and unexpected ways:

- ginger jars make great vases for faux or real florals and stems (just store the lid somewhere safe.)
- small bowls are perfect for holding jewelry in bathrooms or as a planter for small succulents (real or faux).
- trim the stems off your roses or peonies, and float them in a larger shallow bowl. (Or fill it with lemons for a punch of color on your kitchen counter.)

Terry Lea and Sherri Brown were flea-market-going-friends before they made their shared hobby into a full-fledged business by opening Re-Invintage in Murfreesboro, Tenn. Be sure to check out all their fantastic finds at 3781 Franklin Rd., Murfreesboro, TN.

BENNETT'S PHARMACY IN WINCHESTER

by Diana Lamb, Winchester, Tennessee

Bennett's Pharmacy, 1201 Dinah Shore Boulevard in Winchester, is a family owned business, and represents a slice of history, combining old and new in unique ways. Walk in the doors, and the mouth-watering scent that greets you comes from the original 1950s Soda Fountain, we'll come back to check out that Soda Fountain in a bit. You'll find yourself surrounded by special gift lines like Taylor Candles, Willow Tree figurines, Simply Southern fashions, Vera Bradley, and many others. There's toys you will remember from your childhood, nostalgic cards for all occasions, small batch hard candies with flavors you'll remember lemon, cherry, horehound. I spot something new every time I go in Bennett's Pharmacy!

Lisa, is the 3rd generation, having worked with her mother, until her death in 2013, and can be found behind the spacious counters where customers can get needed shots, medicine advice, compounded medicines, and prescriptions filled.

Walk through either of the open archways, and look at the wall behind you to see a little history of this family owned pharmacy's past mounted on the wall. Old medicine bottles and canisters, mortars and pestals, And lots more wonderful little gifts for your friends and loved ones! The shelves have a mixture of medical supplies, including some homeopathic and natural remedies. I always check them out, and I almost always find something I decide I have to have! Owner

Now back to that Soda Fountain. Have a seat, and a little swivel, and twirl back into childhood! Try Bennett's signature drink, the Bloody Marty. What else would a pharmacy have? It's like a virgin cocktail to us adults! Lemonade with a twist! Grab the chicken salad or tuna salad plate while you're there. It's the best around, and comes with stuffed celery, sliced tomato, whole separated orange, And when was the last time you had a fried bologna sandwich or a BLT? Or a malted drink, or a banana split, or a sundae, handmade right in front of you? GO FOR IT! Enjoy the nostalgic feel you'll get at Bennett's Pharmacy in Winchester! Say hi to Lisa, if you get the chance, and don't forget to ask for your 10% discount on a Bloody Marty, if you mention Bennett's Pharmacy ad in Busy Bee Trader!

LOOK FOR “SOMETHING FISHY” IN TWO NEW LOCATIONS

by Maxine B. Jones, Ocoee, Tennessee

You can now look for new, used and vintage fishing stuff in the ‘SOMETHING FISHY’ booths at two new locations. SOMETHING FISHY, owned by Ronnie Wood, has been inside of Vintage and More on the Blvd., 3874 Dayton Blvd in Red Bank, Tenn., for seven years. Recently, Ronnie expanded his FISHY business inside of The Robin’s Nest located at 4039 Cloud Springs Rd in Ringgold, Ga.

In February, an opportunity opened for Ronnie to set up a display inside of East Town Antique Mall at 1165 Slater Road in the East Ridge Antique District behind the Cracker Barrel. His display case is limited to vintage lures and reels - Mitchell 300, 302, 306, 308, & 310. Also, D. A. M. Quick 110, 220, & 300; Orvis 100 and a Zebco Cardinal 4. Also available at East Town Antique Mall are split bamboo fly rods, casting rods, steel pole rods in a variety of brands. These are mostly from late ‘50s, ‘60s and early ‘70s. The booths located at Vintage and More on the Blvd and The Robin’s Nest feature a large variety of vintage rods and reels, huge amount of lures in all sizes and makes, bobbers, tackle boxes, wall art decor’, memorabilia and much, much more.

Ronnie’s interest in fishing and collecting tackle began as a young man, not only fishing side-by-side with his dad, but helping his dad, the late J.T. Boyd, rebuild and repair reels. They would purchase used rod and reels in estate sales, close out sales and other places, repair if needed, clean and freshen them up, and set up at flea markets to sell them on weekends. Parts from the used reels were often needed to repair a customer’s reel when new parts were not available. The business snowballed making it necessary for them to purchase extra parts and equipment to have on hand. By this time Ronnie was collecting a huge variety of antique and vintage fishing tackle to sell. When Ronnie’s dad passed in 2004, Ronnie put everything in storage. He just wasn’t able to continue repairing and rebuilding fishing reels for several years. In 2016 he started rebuilding and retailing some of his oldest antique and vintage reels. He has collected an immense amount of tackle and fishing equipment including vintage items that make excellent man cave selections. This collection for retail includes wall hangers, signage, metal, plastic and fiberglass tackle boxes which are often used as small tool boxes or repurposed into items such as lamps, storage for collectibles and other decor’ purposes.

Ronnie’s prices are very reasonable, and his products are in good shape when you purchase them. Some of his oldest lures from the mid ‘60s and up may start at $5 up to $50; the older the lure the more valuable it becomes given the brand, age and condition. Vintage reels are often sold between $25 to $40; older fly rods may start as low as $50 and may go as high as $200. Old spinning reels, if rare and fine quality, particularly Swiss made and all metal, sometime sell for $150 or better.

For the young and older kids alike, try your luck at winning a prize! Ronnie keeps bubblegum/prize machines filled with fishing memorabilia; lures valued at .25 to $1, and coupons for tee shirts or discounts. Everything is valued from $1.50 to $5 with an occasional $10 item, and it only costs .25 to fish from the machine.

Check out SOMETHING FISHY at all three locations, and if looking for something specific that they don’t have, leave your name, number and item for the owner to give to Ronnie Wood, he may just have it in storage.

BRAY OAKS FORGE TANASI GRAND OPENING

by Maxine B Jones, Ocoee, Tennessee

Bray Oaks Forge Tanasi will be holding it's Premier Grand Opening, Saturday, April 20 from 1 to 4 p.m. This new antique store in Historic Downtown Etowah, Tenn., will feature antiques and primitives, as well as custom made art by the owner, William (Will) McAlister. Will McAlister specializes in blacksmith artwork, where he custom designs and recreates historic weapons such as tomahawks, fixed blade knives in numerous designs, gunstock war clubs and other items, some with very rare wood handles; one of which the wood is dated back thousands of years.

Will's first interest was sparked when his dad brought the family from Memphis to Pigeon Forge, Tenn., and he visited a blacksmith shop where he could purchase a gold horseshoe with his name stamped on it. He started collecting hand forged items, as well as many other primitives and antiques by the time he was 13, and the passion grew as he got older. In high school, he took art and mechanical drafting classes, and they both influenced him immensely. He has loved history and early handmade tools and items used in the past. He particularly liked learning about items that were made and used by Indian tribes for battle and hunting. This is where he learned about the peace pipe tomahawks and the gunstock war clubs. He has some amazing ones he has made, and they can be purchased at his shop. The gunstock war clubs are very unique; they have an effigy - the head is carved like an animal head with eyes and a nose.

Will moved to Maryville, Tenn., in 1991, where he worked in a local industry and enjoyed picking, collecting and enjoying festivals in Southeast Tennessee. Some 20 years later, his weekends began to fill up with festivals and shows, where he would exhibit and demonstrate his work. He has taken several classes at the well known and affluent John C Campbell Folks School in Brasstown, N.C. He studied blacksmithing under Ryan M Johnson (RMJ), a very well known artist who taught classes on making tomahawks and knives. Will has done his own research and being an artist, he is very gifted with custom designing different items from railroad spikes and other metal specimens. He loves to re-purpose things. He might find a very small intricate item, and immediately envisions it with other items - wood, metal or stones maybe, and then customizes a piece of art, often framed for hanging. Will did demonstrations of his blacksmithing at Sequoyah's birthplace for five years, and has set up at many festivals and demonstrated blacksmithing.

Two years ago, Will started designing and making Raku pottery pieces. Now he has added two kilns for future classes, and is in the process of formulating a glaze for other kinds of pottery. Classes are available in blacksmithing; you may register how to forge horse shoe knives, cleavers, railroad spikes knives or tomahawks, as well as an introduction to blacksmithing. Call 865-318-1964 for more information and scheduling a class for a group or yourself. Will's daughters are both artists also. Bray makes custom-designed copper bracelets, and Taylor works with beads and nature's elements such as driftwood to make one-of-a-kind pieces of art. His next phase will be an art gallery; monthly art events will be held and artisans will be able to rent booths to demonstrate and sell their art.

Be sure to mark your calendar for Saturday April 20 for the Premier Grand Opening at Bray Oaks Forge Tanasi from 1-4 p.m. Their shop hours are Thursday through Saturday from 9-4. Be sure to like this store on Facebook, and watch for exciting up coming events!

19TH ANNUAL CLINCH RIVER SPRING ANTIQUE FESTIVAL

By Maxine B Jones, Ocoee, Tennessee

The 19th Annual Clinch River Spring Antique Festival will be Saturday, May 4 in Downtown Clinton, Tenn. The Spring Festival will again be paired between antique dealers and artisans this May. Dealers selling their antique wares will continue to set up on Market Street in the Historic Downtown District on Friday and Saturday, while artisans will be able to show on Saturday, May 4 only, and their booths will be on Main Street. The antique dealers will begin setting up between 8:30 and 9 a.m. Friday morning, and the festival will open at 12 noon till 6 p.m. Saturday's festival will be 9-5 for both artisans and antiques. Vendors are encouraged to apply for the spring and fall festival, and receive a discount for reserving booths for both. This event traditionally attracts over 10,000 shoppers. Their goal for 2024 is to break a new record for both spring and fall festivals. Many stores will be open until 8 p.m. on Friday night for extra shopping.

Clinton is one of the largest antique enthusiast towns in America, and they give a very strong support to the arts. Three art festivals are held in Clinton each year, and the historic downtown district features different artisan store fronts throughout the year. The hosts for the festival, Historic Downtown Clinton, affectionately calls their juried show of one-of-a-kind arts, 'Heirlooms in Waiting on Main Street.' These unique custom made and hand crafted items will be the antiques and treasures sought after in years to come. Plan to come early on Saturday to enjoy shopping on both Main and Market Street.

The antique festival routinely features over 100 dealers, with lots of antique furniture of solid wood, and a huge variety of items, from small and large tables, dining sets, hutches, Hoosiers, desks, corner cabinets - lots of high quality antiques and primitives. They have a lot of vintage household items, farm tools, antique smalls and collectibles. This year's spring event has already accepted a couple of new dealers. One is Straw Plains Pickers who specializes in antique and vintage furniture, small tools, household items and collectibles. Another new dealer is Bent Oak Antique & Curiosities; they feature furniture, home decor, textiles and art.

All dealers have a criteria they must meet, and each must send pictures and descriptions of their products and a picture of their set up. Once approved, Executive Director, Katherine Birkbeck, will contact each of you. Artisans are accepted based on the type of art they create. The list of categories could be apothecary such as hand-poured candles, handmade soaps, balms, lotions, bath/body and herbal products. Clay/pottery products such as original clay, ceramic, porcelain, stone or earthen ware. Digital art-two dimensional works that the artist has manipulated the image using a computer; drawing and print making could be original drawings made with pen, pencil, charcoal, pastels, chalk and other. Printmaking may include silk printing, etching, engraving and other. Edibles include handmade food items that are pre-packaged and not made onsite. Some other art categories include fiber/textiles, furniture, glass, jewelry, metal, mixed media, living botanicals, painting, photography, wood and sculpture and other art. Their website has a very detailed list you may view. cont. on pg. 36
